BALCARRES.

—A meeting to consider the propriety of building a Grist Mill under the co-operative system was convened at this place on the 12th inst. Resolved that Robert Turner act as chairman and J. N. Johnston as secretary.

Chairman stated the object of the meeting and called on Mr. Teece (sen.) who showed very clearly that farmers were robbed by millers in the N. W. T. receiving only from 25 to 30 lbs of flour from wheat equal to any in Ont. or England where they receive from 40 to 45 lbs per bushel, he thought the difference in the toll would a good deal more than pay the difference in the running expenses. He also stated that in his canvas for share-holders none objected.

Mr. Thomas Palester then explained the co-operative system and proposed that shares be put at $10. each. Those wanting more than one share their case to come before a committee who would arrange the shares so that there would be no monopoly he also showed that by grinding the wheat for which we would only receive 50 or 60 cts. we would have $1. worth of flour.

Mr. Joseph Shone then spoke favorably of the scheme.

Mr. Cook was then called on who made a few weighty remarks and stated what had been done in this colony and that it had been suggested that the area taken in, extend 12 miles every way from a point about 4 miles north-east of Thos. Palester.

Mr. Teece (jun.) then spoke in reference to the two processes, stone and roller, giving the preference to the roller as the newest and most popular method of turning out flour for which there was the most demand.

The Chairman then added a few remarks stating that it would be an inducement to settlers to come in to have a mill in the neighborhood. He advised that Joe. Shone write to the Man. office asking difference between a Co-operative and Joint Stock Societies.

Resolved that we go into a committee of the whole to get up a big meeting on the afternoon of Thursday 19th to further discuss the matter and to appoint a committee to work with Messrs. Willis, Barnsley and Teece of P. M. Colony to select site &c. for mill.

Resolved that the Sec. of this meeting communicate to Mr. Cook the actions of next meeting, also stating when they will meet P. M. Colony Committee at Mr. Cantlons.
Resolved that the Sec. send a copy of the proceedings of this meeting to THE PROGRESS and Vidette for publication.

The Canadian Pacific authorities appear to realize the importance of the dairy interests of the Northwest, and the possibilities in the way of developing a large trade. To provide for this business it is proposed to erect warehouses at convenient points along the north shore route, road storerooms at the principal shipping points in Manitoba and the Northwest, and refrigerating cars for transportation purposes. This timely action on the part of the railroad company will doubtless be fully appreciated by the dairy-men of this country, and encourage them to persevere in their efforts to improve the quality and quantity of our dairy products. That the Canadian Pacific should find time while extending their connection in Eastern Canada and reaching further to Asia and Europe, to make special provision for the dairy trade of this portion of the Dominion is an indication of the importance placed upon this branch of industry.

"STRAINED RELATIONS."

The state of affairs now existing between Canada and the United States is such that if they existed between two European nations they would be called "strained," and the probability of a war between the two would be discussed. But between the two nations that occupy nearly the whole of the North American continent, the seizure of a couple of fishing schooners is considered a means of arriving at a settlement of certain disputes respecting the fisheries on the Atlantic coast, and very few think seriously of a possibility of a war over the question. The only talk to be heard comes from the bellicose Frye, senator for Maine in the United States senate. Our big brother Jonathan over the way is sometimes a little too wilful and disposed to bully young Canada. In the case in question, the United States Government has acted in a selfish spirit. Under the Washington treaty their fishermen were allowed to fish in Canadian waters while our fish were admitted duty free in United States ports. Last July the provisions of the treaty were abrogated by the refusal of the United States authorities to admit Canadian fish duty free as before. Our Government have made overtures for the appointment of a joint commission to make a new treaty, and for the past nine months have not enforced our rights. Our overtures having been rejected by the United States senate, nothing remained for our Government but to compel a recognition of our rights by seizing any trespassing vessels. A bold stand has been taken, and it would seem as if young Canada is bound to teach her big brother Jonathan that she is determined to protect her fishermen, or in fact any other rights of her citizens that her big brother may be disposed to infringe upon. The stand our Government has taken is to be commended, and we trust that on this occasion there will not be that giving way that has characterized the negotiation of treaties between the British and the yankees. If Canada were allowed to negotiate her own treaties she would make no concessions without adequate compensation, and would doubtless maintain her rights to the fullest extent. It is interesting to recall the opinion expressed by the New York Herald at the time of the negotiation of the Washington treaty. That paper said of Sir John Macdonald, Canada's commissioner, that he stood out so strongly for the Dominion that it might be inferred that Canada was prepared to throw the United States in short order unless her demands were met. And we might add that is just the kind of spirit that should now characterize our Government, leaving our neighbors to arrive at the conclusion that our national rights as well as our dignity will be maintained.

WRONGLY CONSTRUED.

The Regina Leader would like to be the leader of thought in the Territories. That is a laudable desire, but when its opinions are warped by what are said to be interested motives, it can hardly expect that others will follow it. Last week THE PROGRESS ventured to differ with the Leader on the question whether an election should take place this year for the representation to be given the Northwest in the Dominion Parliament. The Leader favored an immediate election whether the general election takes place this year or not. THE PROGRESS expressed the opinion that the people would prefer to wait another year rather than go through the turmoil of an election two years in succession for the sake of one session of Parliament, but adding at the same time that "as a question of right, representation cannot be given too soon." The proper inference was that the people would be willing to forego their right for another year, as the general election must take place next year by effluxion of time. But the Leader calls it "hedging," and says we "seem afraid of having hazarded an opinion." The regular reader of THE PROGRESS cannot accuse us of being afraid of expressing our opinions. One characteristic of our columns has been that we have the courage of our convictions and that they have been expressed in a consistent and independent manner. It is not one of our failings to have called the members of our Northwest Council one week "Miserable Nine-impoops Worse Confounded," and the next land them to the skies as an able body of legislators.

THE FISHERIES QUESTION.

The American press is turning to good account an extraordinary article which appeared in the London Times of April 26, and from which a sentence or two was culled by the cable agent and transmitted to New York on the day of publication. The article was based upon a cable despatch from the Times correspondent at Philadelphia, dated April 25, to the effect that "the Dominion Cabinet has been summoned to Ottawa" to consider the case of a vessel seized for trespassing, although no actual seizure had occurred at that time. The Times premises were therefore somewhat faulty, and its conclusions, as will be seen, were weak.

"The English view has been that Canada is probably in the right, but that she must not ask for support from this country in waging her unadvised colonial claims, and that it would be wiser for her not to trust on the full rights which, as somewhat partial judges, we consider to be hers. We have made such large concessions before now that we may venture to imagine to make them without fear of being overruled. The most serious lesson in 1866 to our naval officers on the North American coast was that her Majesty's Government did not wish either to concede or to enforce rights were open to grave question. There is no reason to suppose that Canada will be so lightly determined upon enforcing the utmost limit of her rights as to make a satisfactory solution of the difficulty available. There must be some intermediate ground for the Convention of 1818 which both countries can accept, and there will certainly be no disposition in this country to prolong a dispute about a matter in which Canada can hardly be said to have a vital interest and England have no interest at all."

Putting aside the Times' absurd contention that we are not vitally concerned in the matter, all that Canadians can say is that if England has no interest in the maintenance of Canadian rights to Canadian property, she ought to have. We are not asking for anything unreasonable. Under the strict construction of our rights, we should have stopped American fishermen from entering Canadian waters last July, when the fishery clauses of the Washington Treaty were virtually abrogated by the United States. But, instead of doing so, our Government, anxious to promote an amicable settlement of the whole difficulty, permitted American vessels to fish as before for a period of six months, although the United States Government had emphasized its abrogation of its clauses by forthwith refusing to give our fishermen the right of free entry with their fish into the American market which they had enjoyed under the treaty. It can hardly be said that our action in this respect we exhibited any disposition to construe our rights too literally. At the next stage of the question we were willing to submit the whole case to the arbitration of a mixed arbitration of a mixed tribunal. Mr. Cleveland on his part agreed to this, and recommended Congress to accept our offer, which had been made jointly by the Imperial and Dominion Governments. But on April 14, the United States Senate, after a two-days' debate, allowed itself to be overborne by the influence of the New England fish trade, which wants to fish in our waters without giving us compensation of any sort, and passed a resolution that the joint commission proposed by the President "ought not to be provided for by Congress." So that once again our honest efforts to reach a settlement that should be agreeable to both parties came to nothing, but not through any fault of ours. Nothing then remained for us but to protect our interests. When this determination was announced, Senator Frye of Maine, who was acting for the New England fishermen, replied with a threat to bring a bill closing United States ports against Canadian fishing, freight, and passenger vessels along the whole line of the Atlantic coast and the great lakes. He also boasted that Americans need not fear England's intervention in our behalf, because, to use his own words, "there is not a people in the wide world more under mortgage to keep the peace with us than Great Britain is to-day," and urged his countrymen to "assert themselves," meaning that all they had to do was to violate the treaty provisions and steal our fish, and trust to the essentially American game of bluff for the vindication and triumph of so immortal a policy. To this defiance the Canadian Government made no reply, save by quietly collecting a few cruisers and instructing them to guard our property. An American vessel has just been seized at Digby, N. S., for trespassing, and we presume that a test case will be made of her. If, as the Times asserts, the English people have no interest in seeing that their Canadian fellow-subjects are not robbed, be it so. A thorough understanding of that fact, if it be a fact, might perhaps set some of us thinking very seriously about the drawbacks of a colonial existence, but it would not frighten us into surrendering our property to the Americans. Our plain duty to ourselves, if the Americans will agree to no reasonable settlement, is to continue to protect our fish as best we can. Thirty thousand Canadians are dependent upon the fishing industry, but even if our fishermen were not worth one poor furling, we should still be inclined to defend them to the best of our ability, for, to tell the truth, we have grown weary of being sacrificed.—Toronto Mail.

The Toronto World: It has been stated in Parliament, and confirmed by Mr. Carling, that a good many settlers are crossing into Manitoba from the other side. The strange and gratifying immunity of our Northwest from the cyclones which devastate the adjoining territories ought of itself to be a sufficient reason for this. There can be little comfort in living in a country where a man must be constantly ready to crawl into a hole in the ground every time the wind changes. He may manage this on Sundays, when he is around home and has nothing else to do, but it is mighty inconvenient to have to carry the hole around with him.

CANADA'S NAVY.

Ottawa, May 18.—The following named vessels are fitting out at the points named for the protection of the fisheries: The General Middleton, of St. John, N. B.; the Comrade and Howler, at Halifax; the Critical, at Georgetown, P. E. I.; the Terror, at Shelburne, N. S., and the Lizzie Lindsay, at Gaspe. Two of these vessels will be put in commission this week. The remaining four will soon be ready and are schooners of light draft, and specially designed for speed. The vessels will be furnished with six pounders, and the crews which consists of 25 men each, will be armed to the teeth.

The United States Government has refused permission to John Donnelly, wrecker, to use Canadian tugs in raising the steamer Algoma, sunk off Isle Royal, notwithstanding that the Dominion Government allowed United States tugs to be used last year in raising the steamer Owen Sound lying in Canadian waters.

Chicago Herald: The men in new England and in Congress, who are now hot for retaliation against Canada for the seizure of the American shipping smack, seem to forget that the Dominion itself is the power which has retaliated. Further unfriendliness on the part of the United States will only make a bad matter worse.

Under the treaties which Congress recently abrogated, Americans were given almost as many rights in Canadian waters as the citizens of the Dominion enjoyed, and in return for these concessions the Canadians were given free markets in the States for such fish as they wished to dispose of here. When Congress abrogated these treaties, in obedience to the clamor of New England fishermen, the tariff bars against Canadian fish were put up. That was what New England's mackerel and cod catchers wanted, as it gave them the control of the home market. It was an unfriendly act, and it was logically enough followed by unfriendly acts on the part of Canada.

Instead of retaliation it would be more in harmony with civilization, peace and justice to all for the United States to take the initiative in a movement for free trade between the two countries, with free fisheries thrown in.

Ottawa Journal: It would be almost safe to wager heavy odds that the real reason for the introduction into the Nova Scotia Legislature of resolutions aiming at the dissolution of the union is not the deplorable condition of the province half as much as the desire of Premier Fielding to get back into power again, no matter by what means. He therefore proposes to make political capital out of the hard times which undoubtedly exist in Nova Scotia, as well as in other parts of the Dominion, even though the success of his plans should effect the disruption of confederation.

Mr. Gladstone's defeat on the Home Rule measure is virtually conceded, and the question is now coming forward whether he will resign or dissolve Parliament.

A terrible hurricane has passed across the middle of Spain, doing incredible damage. In the city of Madrid 70 persons were instantly killed and 200 seriously injured.

The Dublin Freeman's Journal says Sir Frederick Roberts, commander of the Indian army, will be recalled to take chief command of the army in Ireland.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company intend erecting three unannounced hotels, one at the Vancouver terminus of the railway, one at the Banff Sulphur Springs, and the third in the Selkirk range.

A furious electrical storm, accompanied by a hurricane and heavy rain, played havoc on Wednesday night in the five adjoining States of Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio. Many persons were killed. Property was devastated in the track of the storm, and the fruit and growing crops are entirely ruined.

THE RELIEF OF BATTLEFORD.

(We re-publish the following from a Toronto paper of a year ago. "B" Battery should have been included as part of the column that relieved Battleford.)

Respectfully dedicated to Colonel Otter and his gallant "Queen's Own," by J. H. King.

When in the west the false Bell,
Unfulfilled rebellion's standard,
And to the Indian passions wild,
The rebel leaders' bannered;
With whoop and yell the savage crew,
The French half-breeds assisted,
To rob and plunder, slay and kill,
All who their will resisted.

Round Battleford this savage horde,
With fury did assemble,
While heigh ho scatters far and wide,
For life and home did trouble;
When fast the news spread east and west,
The nation all alarming,
Toronto men were foremost found,
To quell rebellion arming.

Then far and wide, on every side,
The settlers fled together,
From fire and sword to Battleford,
Through cold, inclement weather;
The people there were in despair,
Arms and provisions scanty,
While hovering near and distant rear,
The rebels fed on plenty.

'Twas then at home our brave "Queen's Own,"
Their forces did assemble,
As oft their fathers did of yore,
To make the rebels tremble;
Then to the west they quickly prest,
By rail and teams proceeding,
Regardless all of life or toil,
Brave Colonel Otter leading.

Over prairie land and marshy ground,
Those heroes never faltered;
To bring relief to those in grief
Their purpose never altered;
By marches long the gallant throng
Advanced the country clearing,
Till Battleford appeared in sight,
Nor man nor mortal fearing.

If on the way a slight delay,
Their progress had retarded,
The Indians there had burned the place,
It was so weakly guarded;
Five hundred lives were thus preserved,
Who on our troops depended,
Our brave "Queen's Own" brought them relief.

And all their sorrows ended,
The night before, the country o'er,
With beacon fires was lighted,
The signal of the rebel crew,
Our location where affrighted;
But when our men reached town next day,
The help was to deliver,
The rebels fled with fear and dread
Across the Battle River.

When Colonel Herchmer brought the news,
That Otter was approaching,
With shouts and cheers and grateful tears
The joyous scene was touching;
They felt their lives were now secure
From every rebel ranger,
Full well they knew our brave "Queen's Own."

Feared neither death nor danger.

No pen can paint the raptures wild
Of those who were surrounded,
The shouts of joy that rent the air,
Both hill and vale resounded,
Then marching in to their relief,
No savage human fearing,
Our brave "Queen's Own" were welcomed there.

With loud, continued cheering,
Then let us pray those heroes may
By Heaven be directed,
Where'er they go against the foe,
From rebel wiles protected;
When peace restored, our gallant men,
Return with well-earned glory,
Each worthy's name, all time to come,
Shall be revered in story.

Let those at home who live at ease,
Enjoying peace and pleasure,
Remember our brave volunteers
And fill a flowing measure;
Then drink to those who faced their foes
When duty's call sounded,
Our good "Queen's Own," for valor known
And Otter who commanded.

The riots here, and the death and destruction that have flowed therefrom, have touched the American people in a sore spot. They know that for some years they have been warning a viper; that what they have received at the hands of socialistic miscreants has been dealt out to other people without a protest from them in the name of humanity; and now they see how foolish these criminals and give a quiescent consent to the organization of associations among whose resources are the bullet and dynamite. Americans are reaping that which they have sown, and must bear the outbreak more or less philosophically. Chicago has for some time been the hot bed of socialism of the Spies-Parsons order, and encouraged by the indifference of the authorities to their manifestations of hatred to law and order, the leaders have played upon the passions and prejudices of their dupes without any regard for the consequences. But Americans have been thoroughly aroused by the crimes of last week, and from this time on the blood-thirsty socialist will find himself confronted by a public opinion, backed by the necessary machinery, that will meet him at all points.

And perhaps, in view of what has happened in Chicago, people here will not be so ready hereafter to regard with complacency the damnable work of the dynamitards of Great Britain. The doctrine that has been driven into the minds of the Invincibles and their like has spread to this country, and capital, law and order are the targets of those who have imbibed the tenets of the European socialists. Civilized beings the world over need to combine to throttle this enemy of civilization, and Americans only hurt themselves by hanging back when the evil touches other lands and action is called for.—Canadian American, Chicago.

The Weekly Manitoba

Is a twelve-page, well edited paper, and gives the weekly news record, embracing

Latest Cable Intelligence,

Canadian News in Detail,

And the most complete record to be found anywhere of the News of Manitoba and the Northwest.

This last department has been made a strong feature of the paper.

In addition,

The Family Department

Embraces an interesting serial, general reading for leisure moments, chit-chat, and valuable household recipes. New features lately introduced are the

Medical, Veterinary & Legal Departments,

Conducted by skilled practitioners, who are prepared to give, FREE OF CHARGE, through the columns of THE MANITOBA, answers to professional questions that may be sent them. In a new country like this, with settlers remote from the conveniences of old-established communities, these departments cannot fail to prove of great value, and to be worth many times the amount of the subscription to the paper. Two dollars for medical, veterinary and legal advice during the year, with a first class newspaper thrown in, is a good investment.

Editorially,

The paper will be kept to a high standard, and will be found a firm advocate of the true interests of Manitoba and the Northwest, and of the same time giving a loyal support to the Conservative party.

—The municipal council met on Saturday last, but we were unable to get the minutes for this issue. The chairman, Mr. A. M. McLane, tendered his resignation, but as there was not a full council it was not accepted. The reason why Mr. McLane wants to resign is that the affairs of the council are involved in confusion on account of the parsimony of that body. At the beginning of this year, they cut down the salaries of all their officials and placed their own indemnity at fifty cents per day. From the progress made in their work this year it would seem that they have placed their services at a high value even at that price. The collectors roll of 1885 which should have been returned to the sheriff on the first of February is still in the hands of the auditors, who have not yet presented a report on account of the confused state of the financial affairs of the municipality, and everything is in bad shape. The reason for this state of things is the excessive economy of the council. If they will not pay adequate salaries, they cannot expect to get their work done properly. Without doubt the council of a municipality should be careful and economical, but by a "penny-wise-pound-foolish" policy any body will come to grief. The proper way to do is to pay the clerk such a salary as will be adequate remuneration for the work he has to do, and require him to do it in a business like manner; then everything will run smoothly. This in the end would be real economy. We do not wish to be harsh on the council's doings, but we think they should be told of the failure of their excessively economical policy. We will allow that they meant well, and that it was in a sense an experiment. If they will get their affairs in proper shape without delay their mistake will be taken to have been meant well, and credited accordingly.

INDIAN HEAD.

This western town of some 200 inhabitants distant 312 miles west of Winnipeg, and forty-four miles east of the Queen City, on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has already become noted at home and abroad, principally on account of the "Bell Farm." The great men of the earth when doing this country generally see the 57,000 acre farm. This may account for the present of your correspondent. The present outlook from an agricultural standpoint is very hopeful. The Bell Farm alone has 6,000 acres under cultivation, this season 5,800 being exclusively sown in wheat, the balance will be principally sown in barley. The flouring mill owned by the Bell Farming Co., and which stands in close proximity to the C. P. R. Depot has a capacity of 150 lbs. per day; the mill has been suspended for the time being, owing to some litigation in process between parties interested in stocks. They also have a grain elevator here with a capacity of 50,000 bushels, and thirty-two others scattered over the big farm with various capacities of from 500 to 1,000 bushels each. These small elevators are utilized at convenient points to hold the immense harvest temporarily when being threshed. The present prospects indicate that the capacities of the thirty-four elevators will fall short of being adequate to meet the wants this season, when this vast wheat field throws its golden harvest this fall. We find here three general stores, one harness shop, one blacksmith shop, two implement establishments and one tin shop, all in full blast and doing a rushing business. Everybody concerned, many delighted, and all hopeful to the future of the great Northwest, and their own town in particular.—Leader.

SOME IDEA OF THE IMPORTANCE

PICKET WIRE FENCE

may be given by stating that over

50,000 MILES

were sold last year in Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas.

The above cut represents our Combination Fence—pickets dressed and pointed.

THE PICKET WIRE FENCE

is the most suitable General Purpose Fence ever offered to the settlers of Manitoba and the Northwest.

Our Combination Fence is composed of Three, Four and Five Double Strands of the best American Bessemer Steel Wire, firmly interwoven with Pickets at a uniform distance. The Pickets are supported by the double strands of wire in such a way that breakage is impossible, and the pickets cannot be pulled out, making a fence that will turn all stock without injury.
It is stronger and cheaper than a board fence, as the wood soon rots around the nails and needs constant repairs.
It is portable. No other fence has ever been offered which can be as easily removed or put up as this fence. The staples can be withdrawn and the fence rolled up and removed without injury.
It is certain that no fence can be forced temporarily, and the fence removed with little or no trouble. There is no other fence that will admit of this advantage.
With this fence to a great extent your fields, orchards, gardens, &c., will become private and well guarded.
It withstands all winds, and dries out quickly when wet, and if painted will last a lifetime.
It will not cause snow to drift.
Our Combination Fence is not only the best and cheapest, but its long-term convenience adds much to the value of any land it surrounds, which is acknowledged by all who see it.
It is certainly the strongest fence ever offered, as it cannot be broken, each picket being supported and secured with three or more double strands of wire; and more than this, the force of any concussion is broken by the spring of the wires; all the wires and pickets are so interwoven as to form a spring, and when drawn tight and properly put up sagging is absolutely impossible.
This fence is shipped in rolls of from two to six rods, and can be stretched complete in the same time that it takes to stretch one strand of barbed wire.
There are no barbs on this fence. The pickets used in its manufacture are made of clear dry elm, and range from three to four and a half feet in length. A three-foot picket makes an excellent fence for sheep and pigs, and the same length of picket when raised twelve or eighteen inches from the ground, will turn cattle and horses effectively and without injury.
N.B.—We have made arrangements with the C. P. R. for a special low rate for freight on our fence.
